Wedding Was Small.

The wedding was a "small" one, from the point of view of society, only 250 guests being invited. The affair, therefore, is no indication of who is what, but simply of what is a social gathering among the "intimate friends of the family" having received invitations. There being so few invitations, there was practically no chance of any getting into the marriage dress, when cards of admission to St. Thomas' Church fetched exorbitant figures. The guests to-day included the several members of the bridegroom's family who have come to Virginia, the invited guests at the ceremony, and also the Austrian Ambassador at Washington and his wife, the Baron and Baroness Hengelmuller, and other members of the diplomatic corps.

Will Soon Go Abroad.

The question now uppermost is to whether Cornelius or Alfred G. Vanderbilt will give the bride away was decided this morning in favor of Cornelius. Much gossip had arisen over this point, as Cornelius was the eldest son, but it was settled by the fact that the father's will bequeathed his inheritance to him. Alfred was recognized as the head of the family. It had been known for some time, however, that there had been considerable dissension between Cornelius and the other members of the family since the death of Cornelius Vanderbilt, Sr.

COUNT SZECHENYI AND HIS RICH BRIDE

NOT ASKING FOR SUPPORT

Bryan Makes This Statement and Declines Holding Any Conference.

WASHINGTON, D. C., January 27.—William J. Bryan to-day held an impromptu reception in the rooms of the Hotel Congress, where he was. Asked to name his choice for a running mate in the event of his nomination at Denver, Mr. Bryan laughingly replied he shan't tell; that is too bold a question.

To the newspaper man he said: "You may say that my coming to Washington was not to consult any man or set of men as to whether I ought to be a candidate for the presidency, but I have not put such a question to any man, now that I. The people, not individuals, have the sole right to decide that point. I am not here to solicit support for myself as a possible presidential candidate, nor ever solicited individual support. I never ask any man to vote for me. In the past, when I was before the people as a candidate, my efforts to obtain votes have been confined to stating my views."

Asked about the story published in some quarters that former United States Senator Jones, Oliver H. P. Belmont and others came to him a day or two ago and told him he would be a logical candidate for the Democratic nomination, urged him not to run and promised to oppose him if their advice should be disregarded, Mr. Bryan said: "There is a strain of truth in that story, but it is not true that I may be a candidate. I saw Senator Jones and we did talk politics, but nothing of the sort reported occurred."

MAY BAR UNION LABOR

Restriction on Corporations Declared Unconstitutional.

WASHINGTON, D. C., January 27.—The United States Supreme Court to-day handed down an important decision affecting union labor organizations. This decision, as the decision in the employers' liability act of a few weeks ago, is adverse to union labor. In brief, the court held to-day that corporations engaged in interstate commerce cannot be restrained from discharging employees because they are members of labor unions, nor from dis-

You in-door people—women or men—Cascarets are for you. They do what exercise does—what outdoor life and coarse foods do—for the bowels.

Your food, when digested, is sucked into the blood through myriads of ducts in the bowels.

When the bowels are clogged, the refuse is stopped. It decays.

Decay generates poisons. Then those myrid ducts suck the poisons into the blood.

More than half the ills that we suffer come in just that way.

The remedy is to clean out the bowels.

Not in a harsh way—not with salts, castor oil or cathartics, but in a gentle and natural way—with Cascarets.

But this way is better yet:

Don't wait till the bowels are clogged. Keep them active, Take one Cascaret the minute you need it. Carry a box in your pocket.

If we keep the bowels clean, we save all those bad hours which are wasted by neglect.

That's why we make candy tablets, and put them in pocket-size boxes. We want you to learn how easy it is to keep well.

There is nothing so natural in laxatives—nothing so gentle—as Cascarets.

Cascarets are candy tablets. They are sold by all druggists, but never in bulk. Be sure to get the genuine, with CCC on every tablet. The price is 50c, 25c and

NEW SYNAGOGUE

Soon to be Erected by Congregation of Keneseth Israel.

The Keneseth Israel congregation is preparing for the erection of a new synagogue suitable to the growth of that section of old-style, or orthodox, Hebrews. The building at No. 209 North Eighteenth Street, recently purchased by the congregation, is being torn down, and plans are being prepared by Mr. D. Willy Anderson for a new temple to cost from $15,000 to $16,000.

The congregation is now raising a fund for this structure, and a considerable part of the amount needed already is in hand. Secretary and Treasurer Abe Cohn, with Messrs. Steiner and Henry J. Cohn, are the
